GREETINGS...

The Board of Directors and members of The Washington Group welcome you to TWG's Leadership Conference II.

The success of last year's first Leadership Conference and the positive feedback from the participants encouraged TWG to undertake this monumental task again this year. Coming on the threshold of Ukraine's second millennium as a Christian nation, the Conference presents a unique opportunity for Ukrainian American professionals to reflect upon the past and help determine the future development of the Ukrainian American community.

To this end, the Conference offers -- within the framework of speakers, workshops, discussions, and social events -- a forum for interested persons to come together, share their experiences and accomplishments, exchange ideas, identify objectives, and encourage and support the fulfillment of mutual goals. In addition this year, TWG plans to utilize the collective talents of the Conference's participants to publish a report defining the issues facing the Ukrainian community and proposing solutions. This report will then be used as a tool to provide a comprehensive perspective on Ukraine and Ukrainian Americans for Ukrainians and non-Ukrainians alike.

The expanded format of Leadership Conference II and the overwhelming response from participants across the country promise to make the weekend of October 9-12 in Washington, D.C. the occasion for a true Ukrainian "happening."

The response to Leadership Conference II mirrors the success of The Washington Group in its other endeavors. Established in 1984 with 54 charter members, TWG has continued to provide a forum for Americans of Ukrainian descent to participate in activities that promote their heritage, advance their professional growth, and allow for social interaction with others of common interests. Today, the group has grown to almost 300 members -- the largest number yet -- divided almost evenly between residents of the Washington, D.C. metropolitan area and those from the rest of the United States, Canada, Europe, and the Middle East. Varied in ages, professions, and experiences, TWG's members have a common interest -- their Ukrainian heritage, and a common desire -- interaction with other Ukrainian American professionals.

To promote the Ukrainian culture, history, and issues, TWG has taken full advantage of its location in the nation's capital and the varied expertise and talents of its members. In the past year, we have become involved in various issues, including anti-defamation, human rights, U.S.-U.S.S.R. relations and cultural exchanges, and follow-up on the nuclear disaster at Chernobyl, to name a few. In our activities, we have brought our members together with government officials, journalists, academicians, and other influential persons in American life. For example, we were the first to introduce to the Ukrainian American community William H. Courtney, Consul General-Designate to Kiev; Jack F. Matlock, U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet Union; and Michael Edwards, Senior Editor of the National Geographic and author of two articles about Ukraine in the Geographic's May 1987 issue. In our follow-up on Chernobyl, we brought together prominent Ukrainian and non-Ukrainian academicians, scientists, and government officials for two public symposia, and organized an Inter-Faith service to commemorate the first anniversary of the disaster with representatives of 13 denominations.

TWG has also continued to cooperate with other Ukrainian organizations. It coordinated the Chernobyl commemoration with the three parishes and six other organizations in the D.C. area. For the second year now, it has co-sponsored a fund-raiser cruise around Manhattan, with this year's proceeds going towards the restoration of the landmark Ukrainian Institute in New York City. Also for the second year, it is co-sponsoring a Gala with the Ukrainian American Bar Association to benefit the two organizations' respective fellowship and scholarship funds. TWG has been working with non-Ukrainian and other ethnic organizations as well.

For the benefit of its members, TWG publishes an informative and professional newsletter on a monthly basis. It also operates a job bank, organizes monthly Friday evening forums on a wide array of topics, and holds informal social events regularly. The TWG Directory of Members has proven to be an invaluable source of professional and personal contacts.

Having established a solid foundation of members, supporters, and volunteers, and a strong foothold in the community, TWG is now ready to turn its attention to long-term projects in addition to its other activities. The TWG Fellowship Fund was able to make two substantial awards for the first time this year. And, later this fall, we will be moving our operations into office space in downtown Washington in a joint venture with other Ukrainian and Baltic organizations, and initiating a "TWG hotline" -- a daily telephonic recording to inform interested persons quickly and effectively of upcoming events and activities.

This is an exciting time for TWG and its members, and we hope that you will support us according to your interests and talents. We also hope that your stay in Washington, D.C. and participation in Leadership Conference II will be informative, stimulating, rewarding, and enjoyable!

The Washington Group Fellowship Program

The Washington Group's presence in the nation's capital offers a unique opportunity for Ukrainian Americans. The Washington D.C. area contains a wealth of resources, human, organizational, as well as documentary — which have been underutilized in furthering Ukrainian American interests.

The Washington Group Fellowship Program was created to enable persons of Ukrainian descent in pursuing influential careers, as well as encourage people of any nationality to make use of Washington's resources to conduct research or work projects which will further Ukrainian-American interests.

TWG's Fellowship Program differs from that of other existing Ukrainian scholarship programs. TWG's program focuses beyond support of educational activity at a university and does not restrict its awards to full time students. It specifically encourages greater use of Washington's resources by a broader population.

In addition, TWG Fellowship Program collects and disseminates information on fellowships, grants, internships and summer study programs available in the Washington area.

The Fellowship Program presents an annual award, one or several, depending on the amount of funds available and merits of proposals submitted. Awards are made in amounts up to $5000.

The recipients of the 1987 Fellowship Program award will be announced at the TWG-UABA Benefit-Gala, on October 10, 1987 at the Mayflower Hotel, Washington, D.C.

The first award is made to commemorate Alvin Kapusta, who died on January 25, 1987. Mr. Kapusta had a distinguished career at the Department of State including that of Special Assistant in Soviet Nationality Affairs. He was also a Slavic scholar and an expert on Ukrainian Baptists. Mr. Kapusta served on The Washington Group Board of Directors as Director of Public Relations.

We hope the recipients of these fellowships will be inspired by the drive and spirit exhibited by Mr. Kapusta in his work and by his contribution to the Ukrainian American community.

The AME Group is among the leaders in the highly specialized business of supplying construction materials to contractors, manufacturers, utilities and government agencies around the world.

By supplying its customers with pre-bid quotations of material costs, it enables them to fine-tune bid estimates and by acting as a single source supplier, it helps reduce both the purchase price of materials and the administrative costs associated with procurement, expediting and shipping. It also assures you that the materials supplied fully meet contract specifications.

An International Company

The AME Group maintains full service activity centers in the United States, Europe and the Far East, as well as an extensive network of branch offices and representatives. This enables AME's customers to benefit from our ability to provide competitively priced materials that can meet any international specifications with materials from countries and locations that best suit the project requirements.

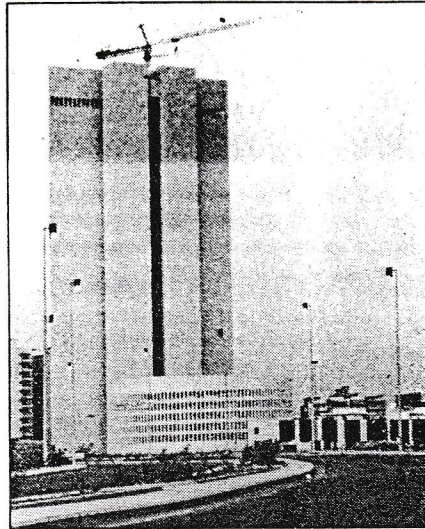

These AME offices are staffed with competent professional people who are fully familiar with local conditions and have been trained in our methods of operation so that there is never a communications problem. They know and understand your needs and the best way to satisfy them.

Wherever you are, AME speaks your language.

Engineering Capability

AME's engineering capability saves you time and money and makes your bids more competitive. Our staff of highly qualified engineers and architects who are specialists in the various areas of material application engineering will carefully review your specifications and select materials that meet your contract requirements.

We guarantee to supply materials that will be approved at the originally quoted price. Thus, AME saves you the risk of having to increase your costs if the materials quoted do not meet contract specifications.

If required, engineering assistance is available for the installation of equipment at an additional cost.

Purchasing Power

AME has enormous purchasing power and knows how to use it on your behalf. In spite of our position as a middle-man, we are competitive.

Because we are constantly involved in purchasing large volumes of materials, we have developed close working relationships with many manufacturers, and we are able to monitor the market constantly. We know where to find the lowest price, best quality and fastest delivery.

AME is truly a single source supplier. It distributes the products of over four-thousand manufacturers of architectural, mechanical and electrical materials.

Order Service/Shipping

When an order is placed with AME, our knowledgeable and competent staff of expeditors assures that each order is processed and shipped quickly and efficiently, with the help of our computer system.

If any of your materials arrive damaged or are lost in transit, AME's claim service is at your disposal.

Special Support Services

AME can arrange, coordinate or provide the following special services at a reasonable cost:

- Complete job estimating and material take-off.
- Full engineering, supervision, or installation at job-sites by qualified personnel.
- Contracting for labor from other countries.
- Special rush service on shipment of urgently required or critical materials.
- Arranging for co-contracting or sub-contracting by qualified contractors whose experience and capabilities complement each other.
- Provide expert advice in structuring of financial packages and help qualified contractors to obtain financing from banks and other institutions.
